Spa Lobby Interior: The space is designed for a women spa, where there is a reception space, recreation space and a dining space. The space is designed to be flexible, all the units designed can be moved and have the space open up for different usage, even the dining area. The space is opened up by using sliding doors that can keep the smell of food without interfering the lobby but also could be open up as one big space for other events that is held in the site.
